Practice Profile

David is an experienced and enthusiastic practitioner in the fields of Statute, Public and Criminal law. He has made several key contributions to Scottish Legal Literature -increasingly used as a Speaker to a wide range of Groups, including the AM Public Law Conference and the NHS Central Legal Office.

David's career began in Local government, and he was the head of legal Services at a Regional Council by the time he decided to pursue a career at the Bar. He has maintained his interest in this area, not least by appearing at a number of lengthy Planning Inquiries, in relation to matters such as Judicial Review, Child Care, Statutory Nuisance and ASBOs. He is a member of the AM Family Law Group.

In parallel, David has developed extensive interests in the field of Mental Health, Adults with incapacity and Human Rights Law. In August 2021, Law Brief Publishing released David's latest publication, "A Practical Guide to the Sheriff Court and Protecting Vulnerable Adults in Scotland". This resulted in "Scottish Legal News" featuring David as their "Lawyer of the Month" for August 2021. He has written two other Textbooks considering the developing area of Mental Health Law in Scotland, and also Articles on these topics which appeared in the "Scots Law Times".

In 2019, David was an advisor to the Independent Review of Learning Disability and Autism in the Mental Health Act (IMRHA). David regularly updates the sections of the "Scottish Human Rights Service" on Mental Health and Planning and the Environment Law, and also contributed a Chapter to the SULI Textbook on Environmental Law. David has regularly presented Courses and Webinars on Adults with Incapacity Law and was the Keynote Speaker at the Annual Conference of the Scottish Autism Alliance in October 2020.

David has also gained substantial experience as a Procurator Fiscal Depute and Crown Junior, and successfully prosecuted in a number of cases at Sheriff and Jury level. He intends to develop this background, particularly in relation to Criminal Appeal work.

David has a deep and genuine commitment to making his skills available to the Third Sector, and particularly to clients who require assistance on a pro bono basis. He has been a Director of Reeltime Music - an award - winning Community Youth Music Project in a deprived area - for over 17 years. For 3 years, he has also been a Board Member of the Mental Disability Advocacy Charity Partners in Advocacy and is also a supporter of the Faculty's Free Legal Services Unit, which he has assisted in Employment cases.

David is also a supporter of Planning Democracy, Validity (formerly the Mental Disability Advocacy Centre) as well as a member of the Pro Bono Panel of Inspiring Scotland.

David provides a high quality and responsive service underpinned by integrity, which focuses on the expectation of Clients and their Agents in a rapidly - evolving Legal Services market. A constructive, inquiring and emphatic approach characterises David's professional ethos. He communicates in a manner and at a level appropriate to his audience, and as demonstrated by the forthcoming publication of a Plain English Guide to Mental Health Law, seeks to demystify complex legal issues.

David W Cobb of AM Advocates was commissioned by Inverclyde Council to act as the Legal Adviser to the Independent Significant Case Review "Remember my Name" of the circumstances leading to the tragic death of Margaret Fleming and the lessons to be learned from the circumstances of her disappearance which was published on 18th October 2023.
